

nulleins's biography

written by markus dolic

markus dolic a.k.a. nulleins (born in 1980) discovered his interest in electronic music during the techno/rave boom in the early nineties (without ever really being a part of that scene, though). after some rather unsatisfying tracker experiments in 94-96, "real" gear had to be bought and was used quite frequently. as the quality of his work seemed to improve, some tracks were released on mp3.com in 2000/01. a couple of months later, contact with thinner was established. his listening habits differ quite a bit from that typical thinner-ish dub-techno style, including artists like björk or tricky as well as bands like depeche mode or coldplay and even a lot of hiphop and jazz - so it's no surprise that his musical output does not follow a consistent path but rather a random pattern across various electronic styles (which, unfortunately, makes planning and scheduling releases somewhat difficult).
